Also the complexity of multiple regulations and standards around the world. Their questions are: how do I prioritize, how do I handle this complexity and how do I do it with confidence in the short run (to comply) and in the long run (to show some ROI)? How to operationally handle the nuance
	02:45 pm - 03:30 pm	CFO-CHRO: Developing Financial & Human Capital Metrics To Align Operational Metrics Against Company Objectives. First and foremost, CFO-CHRO control two important resource streams in most organizations, money and people and how those resources interact. Both functions are non-revenue generating—serving at the “corporate center” on a mix of compliance and strategic value activities— and determine the performance management of the organization. How to develop tightly focused financial and human capital metrics and collaborate to align those metrics with operational metrics against company objectives? How can this relationship enhance the CFO-CHRO strategic partnership around talent management investments? How will the new labour code impact organisations? Will it be a painful proposition for India Inc? Let’s find out. Moderator, Amol Amit Agarwal, CFO, Raymond EC Prasad, CFO, Bajaj Electricals Jayanti Gopal, Head of People & Intellectual Capital, Mashreq Network, India Rajni Kesari, CFO, Nayara Energy Charisma Mahajan, Oracle One panelist from Vahura
